U.S. News and World Report has released its annual Best High Schools list. In the list, the publication ranked nearly 18,000 public high schools from across the country. In the most recent rankings, all District schools were ranked in the top 100 in Illinois, with four schools ranking among the top 10% nationally.

Fremd High School ranked the highest this year coming in at 13th in the state and 315th nationally. Conant joined Fremd in the state's top 50, ranking 42nd while being listed 882nd nationally. Schaumburg, Hoffman Estates and Palatine followed close on the list, ranking 60th, 75th, and 93rd respectively.
